

Artist Statement

From the beginning of time, evolution of organic matter has transformed into many different forms, establishing a traceable, identifiable trail which has led us humans to fit the pieces together.

Henuoosh explores the relationships of each piece of matter, Through spontaneous actions influenced by the environment, each work produces a motion into exposing the matter, with deep embedded thoughts of how to begin treating the earth as best as one can.

The materials chosen in the process demonstrate a social reflection of human industrial development. Is this causing more harm than good?

It is through my vision of raw sense and attentiveness, that my true feelings are expressed. To know and understand Henuoosh's work, you must take a look around..

“We all must be aware of how we treat the elements in our environment, so there will be an environment to live in. “ Henuoosh
